Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Canadian Pacific: The New Highway to the Orient Across Mountains, Prairies and Rivers of Canada A Railway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, all the way on British soil, was long the dream of a few in Canada. This dream of the few became, in time, the hope of the many, and on the confederation of the British North American provinces, in 1867, its realization was found to be a political necessity. Then the Government of the new Dominion of Canada set about the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a work of such vast proportions that the richest empire of Europe might well have hesitated before entering upon it. Much of the country through which the Railway must be built was unexplored. Towards the east, all about Lake Superior, and beyond to the Red river, was a vast rocky region, where nature in her younger days had run riot, and where deep lakes and mighty rivers in every direction opposed the progress of the engineer. Beyond the Red river for a thousand...
